TRAINING PROVIDER

National Hospitality Institute recognised as 'Investor in People'

MUSCAT: National Hospitality Institute, a leading training provider in Muscat, Sultanate of Oman, has been awarded Silver accreditation for the Investors in People Standard, demonstrating their commitment to high performance through good people management.

National Hospitality Institute, well known as NHI, has been operating from their Wadi Kabir premises since 1996. With its team of 20 plus staff they have gained a reputation for excellence in their core business of training and development for the hospitality and travel industries.

"Investors in People" is the international standard for people management, defining what it takes to lead, support and manage people effectively to achieve sustainable results. Underpinning the standard is the Investors in People framework, reflecting the latest workplace trends, essential skills and effective structures required to outperform in any industry. Investors in People enables organisations to benchmark against the best in the business on an international scale.

Paul Devoy, Head of Investors in People, said: "We'd like to congratulate NHI. Investors in People accreditation is the sign of a great employer, an outperforming place to work and a clear commitment to success. NHI should be extremely proud of their achievement."

Commenting on the award, Robert Maclean, Principal of NHI, said: "We are delighted with the news that we have been recertified for Investor in people. We see this as a very important award and underpins our core business of training and developing people for our clients. This shows that we ourselves at NHI have done this to a recognised standard.
