Hospitality management students graduate from NHI

The first group of hospitality management students graduated from NHI at a ceremony held at the Al Bustan Palace InterContinental Muscat. These students completed a two-year programme, which included a six-month internship at a five-star hotel.

This particular group, sponsored and employed by the Royal Army of Oman, on completion of the programme has taken up senior positions within the catering and hospitality division of the army.

The programme is accredited by the Educational Institute of the American Hotel and Lodging Association and covers all aspects of the hospitality industry. The students have an opportunity to understand why it is such a vital part of a country's economy.

The NHI programme allows students to learn the theory and practical sides of the industry with students working at the many functions and events organised by NHI. In addition to the programme, the students had the opportunity to travel to Scotland as part of the NHI link with Forth Valley

College. Sharfia al Kharusy, a student, said, "We are grateful to the Royal Army of Oman for providing us this opportunity and we are grateful to NHI for their hard work and dedication to the needs of their students, we now realise that the rest is up to all of us to make the most of this chance."
